GLOSSARY OF TERMS:

Hot Pack: Heating of raw food in boiling water or steam and filling it hot into jars.

Cold Pack: Canning procedure in which jars are filled with raw food. "Raw Pack" is the preferred term for describing this practice. "Cold Pack" is often used incorrectly to refer to foods that are open-kettle canned or jars that are heat-processed in boiling water.

Open Kettle Canning: A non-recommended canning method. Food is supposedly adequately heat processed in a covered kettle, and then filled hot and sealed in sterile jars.

Raw Pack: The practice of filling jars with raw, unheated food.

Pickling: The practice of adding enough vinegar or lemon juice to a low-acid food to lower its pH to 4.6 or lower.

Jelly: is made from strained fruit juice. The product is clear and firm enough to hold its shape when turned out of the container, yet soft enough to spread.

Jam: is made from crushed or ground fruit and tends to hold its shape but is generally less firm than jelly.

Butters: are made by cooking fruit pulp and sugar until thick enough to spread easily.

Conserves: are jams made from a mixture of fruits, usually including citrus fruit; often raisins and nuts are added.

Marmalade: is a tender jelly with small pieces of citrus fruit or citrus peel distributed evenly throughout.

Preserves: are whole fruits or large pieces of fruit in thick syrup, often slightly jellied.

RULES ~

1. LIMIT: Two (2) entries per class.

3. Specify method of canning (see Glossary of Terms below).

6. Pick up opened jars on Thursday, February 16, after 4 pm in the Cloverdale Citrus Fair office.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS:

Hot Pack: Heating of raw food in boiling water or steam and filling it hot into jars.

Cold Pack: Canning procedure in which jars are filled with raw food. "Raw Pack" is the preferred term for describing this practice. "Cold Pack" is often used incorrectly to refer to foods that are open-kettle canned or jars that are heat-processed in boiling water.

Open Kettle Canning: A non-recommended canning method. Food is supposedly adequately heat processed in a covered kettle, and then filled hot and sealed in sterile jars.

Raw Pack: The practice of filling jars with raw, unheated food.

Pickling: The practice of adding enough vinegar or lemon juice to a low-acid food to lower its pH to 4.6 or lower.

Jelly: is made from strained fruit juice. The product is clear and firm enough to hold its shape when turned out of the container, yet soft enough to spread.

Jam: is made from crushed or ground fruit and tends to hold its shape but is generally less firm than jelly.

Butters: are made by cooking fruit pulp and sugar until thick enough to spread easily.

Conserves: are jams made from a mixture of fruits, usually including citrus fruit; often raisins and nuts are added.

Marmalade: is a tender jelly with small pieces of fruit or peel distributed evenly throughout.

Preserves: are whole fruits or large pieces of fruit in thick syrup, often slightly jellied.
